Whereas tomorrow, Saturday, May thirtieth, has been designated by the duly constituted authorities of a grateful nation as the day upon which the people of this broad land, in all walks of life, will pay merited tribute to the memory of our soldier dead:

Now, therefore, I, Charles F. Coffey, Mayor in and for the City of Washington, Fayette county, Ohio, do hereby request that so far as possible all active business be suspended during tomorrow. In cases where the demand for the necessities of life forbid a suspension, during the whole of the day, then at least during the hours which will be devoted to the services in honor of the dead, that all business be suspended and all business houses be closed; that, so far as possible, the people of this city forsake the ordinary routine of everyday life and observe in form and spirit a day which is sacred in the heart of every patriotic American citizen.

Given under my hand and seal of the said city, this, the twenty-ninth day of May, nineteen hundred and fourteen.

EMPEROR OF IRELAND SINKS IN THE ST. LAWRENCE FROM 678 TO 1100 PERISH IN BIG OCEAN DISASTER

Montreal, May 29 (4:15 p. m.)—G. W. S. Henderson, among survivors of the Empress of Ireland, telegraphed his firm late this afternoon, giving number of dead at 1,030.

Canadian Pacific Liner, Bound From Quebec to Liverpool and Carrying 1437 Souls, Collides With the Collier Storstad and Sinks Immediately in 19 Fathoms of Water.

REPORTED THE STORSTAD, EUREKA AND EVELYN HAVE RESCUED FROM LIFE BOATS 760 PERSONS

Side of the Big Liner Was Torn Open, Admitting a Deluge of Water—Passengers Were Rudely Awakened at Two O'clock a. m. and Rushed to Life Boats in Night Clothes—120 Salvation Army Men Perish—Crew Fared Well, But It Is Claimed Only About 60 Passengers Were Saved.

Rimouski, Quebec, May 29.—Probably more than 1000 lives and surely not less than 700, were lost when the great Canadian-Pacific liner, Empress of Ireland, sank before dawn in the St. Lawrence river, ripped open from amidship to stern by the Danish collier, Storstad. This was the estimate made here this afternoon where the hysterical survivors, many of them pitifully maimed and almost naked, were being brought.

It was based on the fact that the Empress of Ireland carried 1,437 persons, all told, of whom 399 were rescued and landed here by the ships Eureka and Lady Evelyn.

The Storstad, at first reported to have more than 300 survivors on board, has sailed for Quebec after landing only a handful of rescued and a number of dead.

The stricken Empress sank into the waters of the St. Lawrence like lead and an explosion apparently originating in her engine room hastened her end. Those persons who were able to make their way from their cabins found themselves on a perilously slanting deck. Many leaped and were drowned. Others were fortunate enough to grasp driftwood or were picked up by lifeboats.

The Empress of Ireland was valued at $2,000,000 and with her cargo, valued at $250,000, was fully insured. At low tide today the top of her funnels could be seen. It is thought by navigators that it may be possible to raise her. At present the wreck is a menace to navigation.

The vast majority of the saved are men of the ship's crew. An early estimate indicates that not more than sixty passengers were saved.

Beside Captain Kendall, the first and second engineer and the ship's surgeon, were rescued. The captain was too overcome at first to give any account of the disaster. He had sent a wireless to his line after his vessel was struck saying, "Ship Gone."

The residents of Rimouski came silently to the dock where the dead and the exhausted living were being landed and under the direction of the mayor, H. R. Fiset, gave every aid possible. Every doctor in the town was on the scene and many of the injured were taken to private homes for treatment. From cedar chests and closets the residents of the village brought clothing of all description for those who had lost their belongings.

The two rescue boats, the Eureka and the Lady Evelyn, found, on reaching the point of the disaster, a scene not un-similar to that that greeted the rescuers in the Titanic disaster. They found the ship sunk and the surface, fortunately calm, dotted with white lifeboats and floating debris. In the lifeboats were huddled the survivors, dazed and moaning, some of them dying of the injuries they had received in the crash or in the race to leave the sinking ship.

Few could give anything but incoherent, almost hysterical, accounts of the happening. J. L. Black and Mrs. Black, of Ottawa, said they had jumped together into the river. They had been roused by the shock and finding themselves unable to get into the lifeboats had risked the leap. They were picked up by a boat from the Lady Evelyn. Another survivor is Mrs. Patten, of Sherbrooke, Quebec.

It was these two boats that found afloat the few life boats from the stricken ship and picked up the survivors. 339 were saved by the Lady Evelyn and 60 by the Eureka. Among these was Captain H. G. Kendall of the Empress of Ireland. Most of the first class passengers perished. Among those in the first cabin were Sir Henry Seton-Karr, a noted English lawyer and big game hunter, and Lawrence Irving, son of the late Sir Henry Irving, and wife, and Mabel Hackney. Of a party of 140 Salvation Army men only 20 were rescued. They had left Quebec yesterday bound for the international conference in London.

So quick did the Empress sink that those passengers fortunate enough to get into lifeboats found themselves garbed only in night clothing. No baggage was saved. The condition of the survivors is pitiable. Some are with broken arms and legs and many suffered terribly. E. Gossetin, a prominent lawyer of Montreal, saved himself by clinging to a raft.

When the rescue ship docked here the station platform was converted into a hospital and the townspeople brought food and clothing and combined in their efforts to aid the sufferers. Twelve bodies, the faces covered, lay side by side on the wharf. Wreckage strews the Lawrence for a long distance near the spot where the Empress sank. The morning sun shone brightly and although the water was still icy, the temperature today was not cold enough to increase the suffering of the survivors.

RELIEF TRAIN WRECKED

Quebec, May 29 (4:30 p. m.)—The special train carrying survivors from the steamship Empress of Ireland was derailed shortly after leaving Rimouski. So far as known none were killed. The Canadian Pacific immediately made up another relief train.

Rimouski, Quebec, May 29.—The twin-screw Canadian Pacific liner, Empress of Ireland, carrying 1,437 persons, passengers and crew, sank in the darkness before dawn today in the St. Lawrence river near here with the loss of perhaps a thousand lives. An early estimate of the dead varies from 678 to more than 1,100.

The vessel was bound from Quebec to Liverpool with 77 first class, 206 second class and 504 third class passengers. It was cut wide open by the Collier Storstad, and sank within twenty minutes in nineteen fathoms of water.

Of those saved the majority appear to be members of the crew or from the steerage. Many are badly injured and twenty-two died after being picked up.

The crash occurred about 2 o'clock this morning off Father Point, Quebec, a village brought into prominence when Dr. Crippin, the London murderer, was caught.

The Collier, bound for Quebec, struck the Empress of Ireland on the port side about the middle of the ship. She literally tore her way back almost to the liner's screws, leaving a rent through which the water poured in such a deluge that the ship sank before many were aware of what had happened.

Brief wireless calls for help were sent out by the Marconi operator and were heard by the pilot boat, Eureka here, about ten miles from the scene, and the Eureka, followed by the Lady Evelyn, a mail tender, put on forced steam and made all speed for the spot.

CAN ACCOUNT FOR ABOUT HALF

Montreal, May 29.—The Collier Storstad had 360 survivors of the Empress of Ireland on board, according to an announcement made by the government signal service. With approximately 400 landed at Rimouski this accounts for 760 of the souls aboard the Empress.

LOSS FROM 678 TO 1100

Montreal, May 29.—The story published this morning by La Patrie indicating that all of the passengers of the Empress of Ireland had been saved, has not been substantiated. The estimate of the total loss is placed between 678 and over 1,100. Among the 350 persons reported rescued are said to be twelve women.

STORSTAD HEADS FOR QUEBEC

Father Point, Quebec, May 29.—The Collier Storstad, which was in collision with the Empress of Ireland did not sink as was first reported. It is said she is slowly proceeding to Quebec under her own steam. It is understood she had on board a few survivors of the Empress of Ireland.

CAPT. KENDALL'S FIRST DISPATCH

Montreal, May 29.—The first official account of the disaster to the Empress of Ireland came from Captain Kendall who sent a wire early today to Captain Walsh, marine superintendent of the Canadian-Pacific here. The message read:

"Empress of Ireland, stopped by dense fog, struck amidship in vital spot by Collier Storstad."

ANXIOUS CROWDS AT LIVERPOOL

Liverpool, England, May 29.—Crowds gathered at the offices of the Canadian-Pacific this morning awaiting information of the fate of the passengers and crew of the Empress of Ireland. Many of the seamen and firemen on the ill-fated vessel were from Liverpool and pathetic were the scenes when the anxious women and children were turned away with the information that no list of names of survivors had yet been secured.

OHIO PAYS $377,296 TO INJURED WORKMEN

One Employee in Every Eight Protected by State Accident Insurance Was Injured, and State Paid Promptly All Insurance—3927 Employers Contributed Voluntarily to the Fund.

Columbus, Ohio, May 29.—One workman in every eight protected by state accident insurance in 1913, was injured, and one in every 25 thus protected received compensation from the state fund, not including those whose injuries compelled idleness of less than one week. A total of 257,805 employees were covered by state insurance, and 5927 employers contributed voluntarily to the fund. The average award for accidental death of a workman was $2509, as compared with $949, the average amount secured from employers by damage suits in 370 suits in Cuyahoga county courts between 1905 and 1910.

These are a few of the conclusions drawn from the report on industrial accidents prepared by the state industrial commission and made public today. The report is only for the period between March 1, 1912, and December 31, 1913. Consequently it does not contain statistics on the numbers injured and subscribers since contributions to the workmen's compensation fund became virtually compulsory the first of this year. Accidents involving loss of less than a week's time were compensated only by the payment of hospital and medical expenses.

During the period on which the report is made, 16,544 accident claims were filed, 13,408 were allowed, 938 were not allowed and 2198 were pending January 1 of this year. Forty of those claims allowed were for death, two for total disability, 4787 or 35 per cent for temporary disability involving loss of more than a week and 8,277 or 61 per cent for accidents causing loss of less than a week.

FOUNDING OF ST. LOUIS IS CELEBRATED

By Associated Press.

St. Louis, Mo., May 28.—The Pageant and Masque of St. Louis, which was given here tonight in commemoration of the founding of this city one hundred and fifty years ago, required for its production probably the largest stage in the world and a cast of 7,500 persons.

The production was in two distinct parts—the pageant, by Thomas Wood Stevens, head of the school of drama of the Carnegie Institute, Pittsburgh, Pa.; and the masque by Percy MacKaye.

The Pageant began shortly before sunset, and continued until dark. After a short intermission, the masque was given under electric light. The pageant was a series of thirty living pictures, portraying important events in the history of St. Louis. Fifty-six hundred men and women took part in this presentation.

The pageant opened with a scene depicting the mound-building era of St. Louis, which is on the site of many of the old mounds. The movement began with long lines of men and women bringing earth in baskets and building a mound in which they buried the chief of their tribe. The immense stage represented the site of the present city of St. Louis.

Between the stage and the hill to the south on which the spectators sat was a lagoon, 150 feet wide, representing the Mississippi River. The spectators were asked to imagine themselves as seated on the bluffs on the Illinois shore and looking across the Mississippi River to the site of St. Louis as the history of the city passed before them.

As the mound builders buried the chief of their tribe, buffalo hunters approached and persuaded them to give up their mound building ways.

Indians then appeared on the stage—the year now was supposed to be 1539—and gave characteristic dances and war scenes. Then came a representation of the expedition of De Soto with his Spanish gold seekers.

Father Marquette, the French missionary then came up to the pageant stage—the city site—in a canoe, and after him LaSalle and fifty-four traders and Indians.

Thus far 1,150 persons had appeared on the stage in the few scenes already portrayed. The movement ended as an Indian prophet foretold the future of his race.

The next movement opened with the portrayal of the founding of the city by Pierre Laclede, the French settler who was represented as planning the town and leaving his fourteen-year-old son, Chouteau, to build it. Gradually the town grew as the French settlers came in, and then the Spanish troops were represented as coming to take possession under the first Spanish governor. The dedication of the first church was re-enacted.

In 1780 Indians attacked the settlement, and the attack was portrayed on the stage tonight. A school mistress appeared on the stockade and fought with the men in repulsing the Indians.

The movement closed with a representation of the transfer of St. Louis to the United States. On one

In the mining districts of Ohio saloonkeepers are asking suspensions of licenses for 30 days or more on account of the strike of miners.

Memorial Day

Tomorrow, May 30th, the people of every community of the United States, no matter how large that community is, no matter how important and varied its commercial and business interests may be, and no matter how humble it may be, will observe, with proper ceremonies the spirit of Memorial Day.

In New York City the metropolis of the nation, the busy populace will lay aside the worries and cares of the every-day world and allow their thoughts to dwell uninterruptedly on the memory of the heroes who made the existence and perpetuity of all this great united nation and its institutions possible.

In New York and all the great industrial and business centers of the land, millions will join in tribute to the dead.

In the smaller cities and towns, even down to the country hamlets and even to the smaller community, yes, even to the isolated burying grounds in the out of the way corners and quiet places of the land the same beautiful spirit will prevail.

Not one soldier's grave will remain unvisited by the grateful living people.

Nature, usually generous with her gifts of flowers at this time of the year, has been prodigal in her abundance of provision this year, and there will be enough and more of the floral tributes which nature provides, to remember each grave, no matter how prominent its occupant may have been in life or how humble his earthly station may have been.

It is needless to recall to thinking people that the ranks of the survivors of the great conflict of the early sixties are being rapidly depleted. Neither is it necessary to call upon the generation which has come upon the earthly stage since that great conflict was ended, that they owe a duty to those who gave up their lives on the field of battle or became physically disabled through the long campaign of war. Every man, woman and child in all this broad land, whether living at the time of that great conflict or born subsequently to its close is cognizant of the existence of the obligation and that a grateful nation has set apart a day upon which universal tribute may be paid to the soldiers over whose weary bodies "taps" has been sounded.

Following the usual custom and out of honor to the memory of the men who engaged in the war to preserve the Union The Herald will issue no paper tomorrow evening.

It is a day upon which all thoughts of routine business may, so far as possible, be laid aside, and every thought and act consecrated to the memory of those who answered the nation's call and marched away from home and friends to war.

Tomorrow the people will have an opportunity to review the results of that great conflict and in that review they will find much of argument against the horrors of war and much to cool the just wrath which would plunge them, if uncurbed, into a repetition of the sorrows of those other days.

Decoration Day serves a dual purpose—it affords the opportunity to a grateful people to honor the memory of those who fought and suffered and it keeps fresh in the memory the actual horrors of war and is a reminder that the people of civilized nations should exhaust every honorable means to avoid war and its attendant sorrows and sufferings.

Tomorrow is a day to think of the past, to think of the present, and to think of the future.

Poetry For Today

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Fifty years did you say?
Almost fifty years today
Since the war!
John Brown's body lies moldering in
the grave."

See that scar?
Gettysburg—Cemetery Hill—and all
Come back to me—as the shadows
fall

At eventide—that was long ago.

Fifty years! Ah, Time flies fast,
Memorial Day dreams of the past—
The Stripes and Stars.

"We'll rally round the Flag, boys."
But the cheers have died away,

And the long roll throbs from the
valley's gloom

For the ranks of the Blue and
Gray.

But the Flag floats free!

Fifty years! Where's Grant and Lee?
Their battles fought—the slaves set
free—

For evermore!

Hark, the cannon's roar!

Pardon me, boys, 't was only a
dream,

Not the storm of war or the shell's
wild scream;

Only a dream of long ago.

Fifty years! Why we were boys
Out on a farm in Illinois.
This was the song:

"We're coming, Father Abraham,
Six hundred thousand strong."
Ah, me! they came—some there yet—
Years ago, but my eyes are wet—
For the long ago.

Fifty years! Hear the fife and drum
Play as they did in '61!
Seems but yesterday!

"Just before the battle, mother."

Now I'm crippled, old and gray—
At the gate I stand and sigh.
Uncover, boys, the Flag goes by!
The Stripes and Stars.

Fifty years, did you say?
Almost fifty years today
Since we sang

"The Star-spangled Banner in triumph still waves."

How it rang!

But, man, hear that fife and drum—
It carries me back to '61!

When I was young.

GERMANS MAY
SUFFER LOSS

Juarez, Mexico, May 29.—German subjects in rebel territory may suffer because the German steamers landed ammunition for Huerta at Puerto Mexico. When Villa expelled the Spaniards from Chihuahua, he is said to have announced that Germans would be the next to go. But the killing of Benton, which followed soon after, caused him to change his mind.
The landing of ammunition for the federal government by the German vessels may result in the Germans in rebel territory being driven out and their property confiscated, the revolutionists declare.

THE MAY DAY PAGEANT AT CHERRY HILL

Of beauty and picturesqueness far beyond the usual possibilities of a school entertainment was the May Day pageant given by the pupils of the Cherry Hill school Friday afternoon.

The new school building, with its fine location on top of a wooded knoll, its luxuriant grove forming the background for a velvety sweep of terrace, lent itself wonderfully to the May Day program.

The pupils and a throng of patrons were seated either side of the building on the slope of the hill, tier upon tier of seats rising, as if an amphitheater, and the crowd looked down upon the exercises in the hollow below. It was a pretty sight.

A grand pageant of over 200 pupils started from the grove in the rear a flag bearer and drum corps leading and the parade opened one of the most taking of May Day programs.

The program was divided into two parts.

Part first combined the patriotic and athletic, and there were three splendid drills, the Flag drill, Wand drill and Indian club drill given by different grades.

Part second might have been snatched from the days of chivalry, so beautiful and effective was the "Queen's procession" and the May Day fete in the Queen's honor.

Two small heralds led the procession of twenty primary tots, all in white, waving long garlands of pink and white, and after them eight maidens of honor and the crown bearer preceded the queen.

Mary Reno, the lovely queen, bore herself with much grace, as she ascended here white throne and was crowned with a wreath of pink and white roses.

When the Queen was seated, the May Day fete began and the different grades, under Miss Pauline Pine's direction put on a beautiful program of songs and folk dances.

The pennant for the championship of the City Schools' Baseball league was presented to the Eighth grade of Central by Glenn Boots. Owing to the fact that Cherry Hill was a close second, a second pennant was presented to Cherry Hill team.

East Court street. The Bernhard firm will continue operation of its slaughter house and will sell meat at wholesale.

The case is one that created widespread interest and speculation. Some months ago Bernhard & Son, of Columbus, purchased the Barchet meat business and slaughter house here and went into business. Later Mr. Barchet started a new store on East Court street, and a lawsuit resulted, the Bernhard's contending that Barchet was violating the rules of their contract and asking an injunction in the Common Pleas court which was refused. The case was carried to the Court of Appeals where the order of the Common Pleas court was reversed, an injunction being granted the plaintiff which called for the defendant to close his new business in Washington Monday.

A profound sensation was sprung in the Good Hope locality, Thursday night, involving a very prominent farmer and young man and young woman, who are said to be relatives of the farmer.

Sheri Nelson was notified that the young man had fired a shot at the older man, with murderous intent.

He and Deputy Sheriff Nelson and Officer Baughn hurried to the scene and brought back the young man and woman, who are brother and sister.

Friday morning the older man came to this city and the "misunderstanding" was reported to have been adjusted and all parties returned to their homes.

No information regarding the affair, and no names were given out.

TEMPLE DEGREE CONFERRED MANY KNIGHTS WITNESS WORK

Important Session and Enjoyable Banquet Held by Garfield Commandry Last Night—Templar Year Closes June 1—Annual Election of Officers June 17—A Successful Year.

Three candidates, Ed L. Bush, of this city, William Styerwalt and William Porter, of Greenfield, were Thursday night initiated into the mysteries of Knights Templarism when Garfield Commandery put on the closing work of the temple year ending June first.

Besides the temple degree, the three candidates, together with Dr. T. W. McFadden and John McFadden of this city, and Ray Styerwalt, of Greenfield, received the Malta degree.

At the sumptuous banquet which accompanied the festivities, sixty or more guests were served by the women of the Eastern Star who had the "feed" in charge. Of these were representations from Greenfield, Hillsboro, Jeffersonville and other neighboring cities.

In many respects last night's affair was one of the most interesting events in Masonic circles that has occurred during the year and was in progress from 4 o'clock in the afternoon until 11 o'clock in the evening.

The degree work was wonderful and was in charge of a team composed of Eminent Commander Elmer A. Klever, Dr. J. M. Boyd, generalissimo; Dr. A. M. Bush, Captain general; Werner Mallow, senior warden; Lee Des Martin, junior warden; J. W. Tway, warden; A. T. Baldwin, excellent prelate. These were assisted by other Sir Knights.

"This has been a most successful year," said Eminent Commander Elmer A. Klever in discussing the work and plans of the Commandery Friday morning. "The work has been retarded just a little owing to the fact that we were unable to get into our new building until February 1 and the work itself was delayed until March. The prospects are bright that the coming year will be a banner one in Washington Templarism."

June 17 is the date set for the annual election of officers when a new official staff will be chosen to carry on the work during the succeeding year.

Abraham Lincoln's Letter to Mrs. Bixby

"Dear Madam: I have been shown in the files of the war department a statement of the Adjutant General of Massachusetts that you are the mother of five sons, who died gloriously on the field of battle. I feel how weak and fruitless must be any words of mine which should attempt to beguile you from the grief of a loss so overwhelming. But I cannot refrain from tendering to you the consolation that may be found in the thoughts of the republic they died to save. I pray our Heavenly Father may assuage the anguish of your bereavement, and leave you only the cherished memory of the loved and lost, and the solemn pride that must be yours to have laid so costly a sacrifice upon the altar of freedom."

Yours very sincerely and respectfully,

Commander of Militia in Colorado Strike Zone Testifies.

DENIES CHARGES OF CRUELTY

Judge Ben Lindsey Also Appears Before the United States Commission on Industrial Relations and Attacks the Officer's Testimony and Bitterly Assails the Mine Owners—Review of the Testimony.

New York, May 29.—The side of the militiamen in the Colorado strike war was given before the United States commission on industrial relations by Major Edward J. Boughton, who commanded the militia during the strike troubles. He was a member of the commission appointed by Brigadier General John Chase to find out who was responsible for the burning of the tent colony at Ludlow and the killing of the wives and children of the strikers, and his evidence was largely a defense of the militiamen when they were in the strike zone.

Judge Ben D. Lindsey of Denver, who came here to plead the cause of the strikers and who has been trying to see John D. Rockefeller, Jr., appeared after the testimony of Major Boughton was finished and asked to be put on the stand to reply to some of the statements of the latter. The request was granted and he attacked the testimony of Major Boughton and bitterly assailed the mine owners. Major Boughton said that the immediate cause of the strike battle at Ludlow and the burning of the tent colony was an attack on the soldiers by the Greeks in the colony, who mistook a movement of the troops on a nearby hill as a hostile demonstration. "The machine guns were not used against the tent colony," he said. "They were used merely to cover the movement of the troops. The tents were set on fire by combustion caused by a bullet. The fire was at first accidental, but it was afterward spread by the national guardsmen."

Lindsey a Witness.

The presence of the women and children in the pits where they sought refuge under the tents, was unknown to the soldiers, he said. When the fire started the soldiers rescued 20 or 25 women. He admitted there was a common belief in Colorado that militia officers were controlled by the mine owners.

Replying to a question by Commissioner Garrison, he said that he had been to the Rockefeller offices and saw Mr. Green, but did not see Mr. Rockefeller.

Judge Lindsey testified that the president of the mine owners' association was head of a society for the prevention of cruelty to children, but did not live up to his precepts. Many were killed in the mills, he declared, and the corporation controlled district attorneys, judges of the supreme court and other officers of the law as they would office boys.

Judge Lindsey declared that he had affidavits of people who swore they heard the order to the soldiers to burn the tents; also that he could produce evidence showing that mine guards were turned on the tents under which there were innocent women and children.

"If the trouble is settled," Judge Lindsey continued, "the lull will only be temporary. A far bigger storm is coming unless the employers, who are the beneficiaries of unfair laws, are fair to their employees." He said that there would be a repetition of the Ludlow horrors unless the president kept the federal troops there. He charged the mine owners with deliberate unfairness to the employees.

EQUAL TRADE IS ADVOCATED

By Associated Press.

Mohonk Lake, N. Y., May 29.—Rear Admiral French E. Chadwick, U. S. N., retired, speaking before the Lake Mohonk Conference on International Arbitration here today, said that the United States should set an example to the world in demonstration of its behalf in the open door, by opening to international equal trade the Philippines, Porto Rico, and the Canal Zone.

His subject was "Equal Trade Opportunities A Preventive of War." Such countries as Morocco and the Congo States, if not left to the inhabitants themselves, should be regarded, he said, as world commons, no part of which should be fenced off by a particular nation as a special trade reserve, but should be open to all. The principle of equal trade and exploitation had already been established there, and he believed that the United States should take a still further step as regards the Philippines, Porto Rico and the Canal Zone.

"Particularly advisable," he said, "is a free canal zone and thus the establishment there of a new Hong Kong, the immense growth and prosperity of the eastern city being due to its status as a free port."

Mohonk, Lake, N. Y., May 29.—A joint address, by Dr. John Bates Clark, professor of Political Economy at Columbia University, and Sir George Paish, editor of the London Statist, was read by Dr. Clark at the Lake Mohonk Conference on International Arbitration here today. They had been asked to "present a plan for taking one practical step in the direction of universal peace."

They proposed a Standing Committee of the Powers.

They raised the question whether conferences of foreign ministers or their representatives could be made a part of the regular procedure of governments.

"The need for this," they said, "exists independently of warfare. The nations have become interdependent where formerly they sought to be self-contained, both politically and economically. They live by serving each other."

The interdependence was most noticeable in the exchange of clothing and food and capital. "The failure of the monsoon in India raises the price of bread in England," they cited as example. "And an earthquake or war always causes losses in very remote regions."

"It should be possible for a Standing Committee to agree upon policies that, in time of peace, will promote the common welfare and create a strong bond of mutual friendliness."

There might be no guarantee against war, but the step now called for was the creation of a mechanism by which the general interest of the whole of mankind shall be protected.

"The chief question which we need to bring before the next Hague Conference," they said, "is how the general interest can best be conserved. A standing committee of the powers would be a potent instrumentality for conserving it. It should call its meetings from time to time, whenever the general interest is affected by a conference between the powers. The function of such a committee would not be confined to averting war. The elaborate network of business relations that tie the countries together will afford the interest to be immediately and constantly guarded through periods of peace, as well as the supreme reason for averting war."

The rebels are now the only element which threatens the success of the Niagara Falls proceedings. All parties to the conferences realize the absolute necessity of acquiescence by the rebels of the north in any agreement reached at Niagara Falls, if it is to bring permanent relief. The United States government has therefore been making every effort to persuade Carranza to reconsider his previous decision and enter the conference. There has been almost daily conferences between Secretary Bryan and Carranza's representatives in this country.

It was learned on good authority that for three days at least John Lind, President Wilson's special representative, has been in almost continual conference with General Carranza's representatives here. Common belief is that the president's envoy is preparing in a general way for the recognition of the rebel chief as provisional president of Mexico.

The officials of this government hold that the writing of this letter by Carranza involves a diplomatic hint that an invitation to participate in the Niagara Falls conferences will be now accepted by the Constitutional chieftain. It is expected that General Carranza's letter soon will be in the hands of the A. B. C. diplomats at Niagara Falls and that important developments will quickly follow.

The Washington administration believes that the sending of this letter by Carranza is designed to procure a new invitation to participate in the conferences, which the Constitutional leader will immediately accept. As a result of this new development the confidence of the president and his advisers in the ultimate success of mediation is stronger than it has been at any other time. Persons who are familiar with the president's views would not be surprised if a formal protocol were formulated within a week and signed and accepted not only by the Mexican federales and the United States, but by the Constitutionalists as well.

Washington, May 29.—The outlook for an early vote on the tolls repeal bill is far from satisfactory. Speeches are still being made from day to day and notices given of more speaking to come. One prominent western Republican senator, who contemplates a long deliverance on the subject of free tolls, said that he had not yet begun the preparation of his speech. The latest speakers were Senators Oliver of Pennsylvania, West of Georgia and Dupont of Delaware. Senators Oliver and Dupont are opposed to repeal while Mr. West was favorable to repeal.

SOUND THEORY
IS VINDICATED

Elmira, N. Y., May 29.—The theory of Dr. Samuel Langley, who proclaimed to the world that he had solved the problem of the air several years before the upper elements had been successfully navigated by a heavier-than-air machine, was vindicated at Hammondsport when Glenn Curtiss, the aviator, went aloft in "Langley's Folly." The crude flying machine, which fell into the Potomac river when Dr. Langley, its inventor, attempted to fly in it, and which later was consigned to the Smithsonian Institute at Washington, had every requisite for flight and remained in the air long enough to demonstrate the practical mind of its maker.

Langley made the one fatal error of trying to catapult the flyer into the air with the aid of ponderous springs, but he succeeded only in wrecking the machine. Had he tried the method pursued today, of running the machine along the ground and allowing it to rise gradually in the air, there is little doubt he would have made the first flight in a heavier-than-air machine.

Progressives Would Swap Indorsements With Republicans.

CONFERENCE AT OYSTER BAY

Colonel and Other Bull Moose Leaders Would Indorse Republican Candidates For State Offices, Provided They Fit In Snugly With Progressive Ideas—Will Ask In Turn Indorsement For Progressives.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., May 29.—Progressive leaders have decided to exchange indorsements in the New York state elections next fall with the Republicans, provided always that the Republican nominees in question are running on principles which coincide with those of Colonel Roosevelt. This was decided at a conference here.

The names of District Attorney Charles Whitman and Harvey D. Hinman, a former state senator, were discussed in connection with the gubernatorial nomination. Each of them, it is understood, would be acceptable, provided they ran on a platform not too much opposed to Progressive principles.

At the conference, which was held with Colonel Roosevelt, were Douglas Robinson, Progressive state chairman; ex-Senator Frederick M. Davison, Charles Hamilton, the Progressive leader in Buffalo; Francis Bird, Progressive chairman of New York county, and Judge Ransom.

The five Progressives called on Mr. Roosevelt to learn for once and all if he would accept a Progressive nomination for the governorship. They were told flatly that he would not. It was then that Colonel Roosevelt breathed to his callers the advisability of indorsing a Republican nominee for the governorship, provided the nominee fitted in pretty snugly with Progressive ideas, and the idea became general among all the conferees that if the Progressive party is to retain its strength in this state it must be done by some sort of an exchange with its parent body—the Republican party.

But it is well understood here that Colonel Roosevelt will not, unless his ideas change very radically, consent to anything in the nature of an amalgamation between the Republicans and the Progressives.

The decision to adopt such a course in New York is simply a forerunner of what the Progressives will do with Mr. Roosevelt's consent in other states.

There is no doubt but that the Progressives will expect in return for their friendliness the indorsement of some Progressive nominees by the Republicans. In this respect, it is intimated here, the Progressives will ask the Republicans to indorse a Progressive candidate for the United States senate. The same will hold true in respect to state senators and assemblymen.

AFTER GRIPPE.

Made Strong by Vinol.

John C. Furman, of Clarion, Pa., says: "After a very severe attack of the grippe my system was in a weakened, nervous and run-down condition. I had no appetite at all. I was obliged to continue with my work, and nothing seemed to help me until a friend induced me to take Vinol. I began to note good results from the first bottle. I continued its use and am now sound and well as ever.

In health one cannot realize how depressed a person may become after trying one remedy after another without benefit for such a condition as Mr. Furman was in, or what a relief it is to find help and be restored to health and strength.

It is the combined action of the medicinal curative element of cod's livers without the greasy oil, aided by the blood-making and strengthening properties of tonic iron, that makes Vinol so efficient in building up the weakened run-down system.

We guarantee Vinol to give you perfect satisfaction. Blackmer & Tanquary, Druggists, Washington C. H., Ohio.

MAYOR CHARLES F. COFFEY ISSUES MEMORIAL DAY PROCLAMATION

Whereas tomorrow, Saturday, May thirtieth, has been designated by the duly constituted authorities of a grateful nation as the day upon which the people of this broad land, in all walks of life, will pay merited tribute to the memory of our soldier dead:

Now, therefore, I, Charles F. Coffey, Mayor in and for the City of Washington, Fayette county, Ohio,

do hereby request that so far as possible all active business be suspended during tomorrow. In cases where the demand for the necessities of life forbid a suspension, during the whole of the day, then at least during the hours which will be devoted to the services in honor of the dead, that all business be suspended and all business houses be closed; that, so far as possible, the people of this city forsake the ordinary routine of everyday life and observe in form and spirit a day which is sacred in the heart of every patriotic American citizen.

Given under my hand and seal of the said city, this, the twenty-ninth day of May, nineteen hundred and fourteen. CHAS. F. COFFEY, Mayor.

EMPEROR OF IRELAND SINKS IN THE ST. LAWRENCE FROM 678 TO 1100 PERISH IN BIG OCEAN DISASTER

Montreal, May 29 (4:15 p. m.)—G. W. S. Henderson, among survivors of the Empress of Ireland, telegraphed his firm late this afternoon, giving number of dead at 1,030.

Canadian Pacific Liner, Bound From Quebec to Liverpool and Carrying 1437 Souls, Collides With the Collier Storstad and Sinks Immediately in 19 Fathoms of Water.

REPORTED THE STORSTAD, EUREKA AND EVELYN HAVE RESCUED FROM LIFE BOATS 760 PERSONS

Side of the Big Liner Was Torn Open, Admitting a Deluge of Water—Passengers Were Rudely Awakened at Two O'clock a. m. and Rushed to Life Boats in Night Clothes—120 Salvation Army Men Perish—Crew Fared Well, But It Is Claimed Only About 60 Passengers Were Saved.

Rimouski, Quebec, May 29.—Probably more than 1000 lives and surely not less than 700, were lost when the great Canadian-Pacific liner, Empress of Ireland, sank before dawn in the St. Lawrence river, ripped open from amidship to stern by the Danish collier, Storstad. This was the estimate made here this afternoon where the hysterical survivors, many of them pitifully maimed and almost naked, were being brought.

It was based on the fact that the Empress of Ireland carried 1,437 persons, all told, of whom 399 were rescued and landed here by the ships Eureka and Lady Evelyn.

The Storstad, at first reported to have more than 300 survivors on board, has sailed for Quebec after landing only a handful of rescued and a number of dead.

The stricken Empress sank into the waters of the St. Lawrence like lead and an explosion apparently originating in her engine room hastened her end. Those persons who were able to make their way from their cabins found themselves on a perilously slanting deck. Many leaped and were drowned. Others were fortunate enough to grasp driftwood or were picked up by lifeboats.

The Empress of Ireland was valued at $2,000,000 and with her cargo, valued at $250,000, was fully insured. At low tide today the top of her funnels could be seen. It is thought by navigators that it may be possible to raise her. At present the wreck is a menace to navigation.

The vast majority of the saved are men of the ship's crew. An early estimate indicates that not more than sixty passengers were saved.

Beside Captain Kendall, the first and second engineer and the ship's surgeon, were rescued. The captain was too overcome at first to give any account of the disaster. He had sent a wireless to his line after his vessel was struck saying, "Ship Gone."

The residents of Rimouski came silently to the dock where the dead and the exhausted living were being landed and under the direction of the mayor, H. R. Fiset, gave every aid possible. Every doctor in the town was on the scene and many of the injured were taken to private homes for treatment. From cedar chests and closets the residents of the village brought clothing of all description for those who had lost their belongings.

The two rescue boats, the Eureka and the Lady Evelyn, found, on reaching the point of the disaster, a scene not unlike that that greeted the rescuers in the Titanic disaster. They found the ship sunk and the surface, fortunately calm, dotted with white lifeboats and floating debris. In the lifeboats were huddled the survivors, dazed and moaning, some of them dying of the injuries they had received in the crash or in the race to leave the sinking ship.

Few could give anything but incoherent, almost hysterical, accounts of the happening. J. L. Black and Mrs. Black, of Ottawa, said they had jumped together into the river. They had been roused by the shock and finding themselves unable to get into the lifeboats had risked the leap. They were picked up by a boat from the Lady Evelyn. Another survivor is Mrs. Patten, of Sherbrooke, Quebec.

It was these two boats that found afloat the few life boats from the stricken ship and picked up the survivors. 339 were saved by the Lady Evelyn and 60 by the Eureka. Among these was Captain H. G. Kendall of the Empress of Ireland. Most of the first class passengers perished. Among those in the first cabin were Sir Henry Seton Karr, a noted English lawyer and big game hunter, and Lawrence Irving, son of the late Sir Henry Irving, and wife, and Mabel Hackney. Of a party of 140 Salvation Army men only 20 were rescued. They had left Quebec yesterday bound for the international conference in London.

So quick did the Empress sink that those passengers fortunate enough to get into lifeboats found themselves garbed only in night clothing. No baggage was saved. The condition of the survivors is pitiable. Some are with broken arms and legs and many suffered terribly. E. Gossetin, a prominent lawyer of Montreal, saved himself by clinging to a raft.

When the rescue ship docked here the station platform was converted into a hospital and the townspeople brought food and clothing and combined in their efforts to aid the sufferers. Twelve bodies, the faces covered, lay side by side on the wharf.

Wreckage strews the Lawrence for a long distance near the spot where the Empress sank. The morning sun shone brightly and although the water was still icy, the temperature today was not cold enough to increase the suffering of the survivors.

RELIEF TRAIN WRECKED

Quebec, May 29 (4:30 p. m.)—The special train carrying survivors from the steamship Empress of Ireland was derailed shortly after leaving Rimouski. So far as known none were killed. The Canadian Pacific immediately made up another relief train.

Rimouski, Quebec, May 29.—The twin-screw Canadian Pacific liner, Empress of Ireland, carrying 1,437 persons, passengers and crew, sank in the darkness before dawn today in the St. Lawrence river near here with the loss of perhaps a thousand lives. An early estimate of the dead varies from 678 to more than 1,100.

The vessel was bound from Quebec to Liverpool with 77 first class, 206 second class and 504 third class passengers. It was cut wide open by the Collier Storstad, and sank within twenty minutes in nineteen fathoms of water.

Of those saved the majority appear to be members of the crew or from the steerage. Many are badly injured and twenty-two died after being picked up.

The crash occurred about 2 o'clock this morning off Father Point, Quebec, a village brought into prominence when Dr. Crippin, the London murderer, was caught.

The Collier, bound for Quebec, struck the Empress of Ireland on the port side about the middle of the ship. She literally tore her way back almost to the liner's screws, leaving a rent through which the water poured in such a deluge that the ship sank before many were aware of what had happened.

Brief wireless calls for help were sent out by the Marconi operator and were heard by the pilot boat, Eureka here, about ten miles from the scene, and the Eureka, followed by the Lady Evelyn, a mail tender, put on forced steam and made all speed for the spot.

CAN ACCOUNT FOR ABOUT HALF

Montreal, May 29.—The Collier Storstad had 360 survivors of the Empress of Ireland on board, according to an announcement made by the government signal service. With approximately 400 landed at Rimouski this accounts for 760 of the souls aboard the Empress.

LOSS FROM 678 TO 1100

Montreal, May 29.—The story published this morning by La Patrie indicating that all of the passengers of the Empress of Ireland had been saved, has not been substantiated. The estimate of the total loss is placed between 678 and over 1,100. Among the 350 persons reported rescued are said to be twelve women.

STORSTAD HEADS FOR QUEBEC

Father Point, Quebec, May 29.—The Collier Storstad, which was in collision with the Empress of Ireland did not sink as was first reported. It is said she is slowly proceeding to Quebec under her own steam. It is understood she had on board a few survivors of the Empress of Ireland.

CAPT. KENDALL'S FIRST DISPATCH

Montreal, May 29.—The first official account of the disaster to the Empress of Ireland came from Captain Kendall who sent a wire early today to Captain Walsh, marine superintendent of the Canadian-Pacific here. The message read:

"Empress of Ireland, stopped by dense fog, struck amidship in vital spot by Collier Storstad."

ANXIOUS CROWDS AT LIVERPOOL

Liverpool, England, May 29.—Crowds gathered at the offices of the Canadian-Pacific this morning awaiting information of the fate of the passengers and crew of the Empress of Ireland. Many of the seamen and firemen on the ill-fated vessel were from Liverpool and pathetic were the scenes when the anxious women and children were turned away with the information that no list of names of survivors had yet been secured.

OHIO PAYS $377,296 TO INJURED WORKMEN

One Employee in Every Eight Protected by State Accident Insurance Was Injured, and State Paid Promptly All Insurance—3927 Employers Contributed Voluntarily to the Fund.

Columbus, Ohio, May 29.—One workman in every eight protected by state accident insurance in 1913, was injured, and one in every 25 thus protected received compensation from the state fund, not including those whose injuries compelled idleness of less than one week. A total of 257,805 employees were covered by state insurance, and 5927 employers contributed voluntarily to the fund. The average award for accidental death of a workman was $2509, as compared with $949, the average amount secured from employers by damage suits in 370 suits in Cuyahoga county courts between 1905 and 1910.

These are a few of the conclusions drawn from the report on industrial accidents prepared by the state industrial commission and made public today. The report is only for the period between March 1, 1912, and December 31, 1913. Consequently it does not contain statistics on the numbers injured and subscribers since contributions to the workmen's compensation fund became virtually compulsory the first of this year. Accidents involving loss of less than a week's time were compensated only by the payment of hospital and medical expenses.

During the period on which the report is made, 16,544 accident claims were filed, 13,408 were allowed, 938 were not allowed and 2198 were pending January 1 of this year. Forty of those claims allowed were for death, two for total disability, 4787 or 35 per cent for temporary disability involving loss of more than a week and 8,277 or 61 per cent for accidents causing loss of less than a week.

A total of $377,296 was paid out for compensation during the period; $102,050 was for death claims.

Records of the Cuyahoga county courts, showing awards in workmen's accident damage suits, as compiled by the Employers' Liability Commission of Ohio, show the average amount secured by litigation during the five years, 1905 to 1910, was a little more than a third of the average paid for workmen's death under the state insurance plan.

Comparison of the time required to settle the cases shows that under the state insurance plan, only one month and 11 days was required as an average to settle death cases, whereas 25 months is the average time required to settle 35 cases in the Cuyahoga county court before the passage of the compensation act more than two years ago. Cuyahoga county is mentioned only because it is considered as showing typical conditions.

Of the 40 fatally injured whose claims were allowed under the workmen's compensation act before last January, 35 left 83 persons wholly dependent, three left 6 partially dependent and two left no dependents. Only funeral and medical expenses, but no actual compensation, were paid for the last.

Two claims for permanent disability were allowed during that period. Compensation averaging $10 a week will be paid for the remainder of the lives of these workmen. Medical and hospital bills were paid in addition.

The average age of those fatally injured was 39.

Memorial Day

Tomorrow, May 30th, the people of every community of the United States, no matter how large that community is, no matter how important and varied its commercial and business interests may be, and no matter how humble it may be, will observe, with proper ceremonies the spirit of Memorial Day.

In New York City the metropolis of the nation, the busy populace will lay aside the worries and cares of the every-day world and allow their thoughts to dwell uninterrupted on the memory of the heroes who made the existence and perpetuity of all this great united nation and its institutions possible.

In New York and all the great industrial and business centers of the land, millions will join in tribute to the dead.

In the smaller cities and towns, even down to the country hamlets and even to the smaller community, yes, even to the isolated burying grounds in the out of the way corners and quiet places of the land the same beautiful spirit will prevail.

Not one soldier's grave will remain unvisited by the grateful living people.

Nature, usually generous with her gifts of flowers at this time of the year, has been prodigal in her abundance of provision this year, and there will be enough and more of the floral tributes which nature provides, to remember each grave, no matter how prominent its occupant may have been in life or how humble his earthly station may have been.

It is needless to recall to thinking people that the ranks of the survivors of the great conflict of the early sixties are being rapidly depleted. Neither is it necessary to call upon the generation which has come upon the earthly stage since that great conflict was ended, that they owe a duty to those who gave up their lives on the field of battle or became physically disabled through the long campaign of war. Every man, woman and child in all this broad land, whether living at the time of that great conflict or born subsequently to its close is cognizant of the existence of the obligation and that a grateful nation has set apart a day upon which universal tribute may be paid to the soldiers over whose weary bodies "taps" has been sounded.

Following the usual custom and out of honor to the memory of the men who engaged in the war to preserve the Union The Herald will issue no paper tomorrow evening.

It is a day upon which all thoughts of routine business may, so far as possible, be laid aside, and every thought and act consecrated to the memory of those who answered the nation's call and marched away from home and friends to war.

Tomorrow the people will have an opportunity to review the results of that great conflict and in that review they will find much of argument against the horrors of war and much to cool the just wrath which would plunge them, if uncurbed, into a repetition of the sorrows of those other days.

Decoration Day serves a dual purpose—it affords the opportunity to a grateful people to honor the memory of those who fought and suffered and it keeps fresh in the memory the actual horrors of war and is a reminder that the people of civilized nations should exhaust every honorable means to avoid war and its attendant sorrows and sufferings.

Tomorrow is a day to think of the past, to think of the present, and to think of the future.

Poetry For Today

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Fifty years did you say?
Almost fifty years today
Since the war!
"John Brown's body lies moldering in
the grave."
See that scar?
Gettysburg—Cemetery Hill—and all
Come back to me—as the shadows
fall
At eventide—that was long ago.
Fifty years! Ah, Time flies fast,
Memorial Day dreams of the past—
The Stripes and Stars.
"We'll rally round the Flag, boys."
But the cheers have died away,
And the long roll throbs from the
valley's gloom
For the ranks of the Blue and
Gray.
But the Flag floats free!

Fifty years! Where's Grant and Lee?
Their battles fought—the slaves set
free—
For evermore!
Hark, the cannon's roar!
Pardon me, boys, 't was only a
dream,
Not the storm of war or the shell's
wild scream;
Only a dream of long ago.

Fifty years! Why, we were boys
Out on a farm in Illinois.
This was the song:
"We're coming, Father Abraham,
Six hundred thousand strong."
Ah, me! they came—some there yet—
Years ago, but my eyes are wet—
For the long ago.

Fifty years! Hear the fife and drum
Play as they did in '61!
Seems but yesterday!
Just before the battle, mother..."
Now I'm crippled, old and gray—
At the gate I stand and sigh.
Uncover, boys, the Flag goes by!
The Stripes and Stars.

Fifty years, did you say?
Almost fifty years today
Since we sang
"The Star-spangled Banner in triumph still waves."
How it rang!
But, man, hear that fife and drum—
It carries me back to '61!
When I was young.

Anti-Trust Bill.

Washington, May 29.—Provisions aimed against discrimination and against exclusive agency contracts were perfected by the house in the consideration of the Clayton bill to supplement the anti-trust laws.

Scores of amendments designed to alter the measure as framed by the judiciary committee were voted down. Three of the 22 sections of the bill have been agreed to. The first section of the bill, dealing with terms and definitions, was passed without objection. The second, forbidding price discrimination between purchasers of the same commodities in the same or different communities, was attacked by Representative Graham of Pennsylvania, who offered several amendments. All were defeated.

The section making it unlawful for persons controlling mines or mine products to refuse to sell to responsible persons, after being amended so as to apply to oil and gas wells, was passed over to allow the judiciary committee to perfect the new provision. The principal contest of the day was over the fourth section, making it unlawful for wholesalers to lease or sell goods with a condition that the purchasers shall not deal in the goods of a competitor.

Juarez, Mexico, May 29.—German subjects in rebel territory may suffer because the German steamers landed ammunition for Huerta at Puerto Mexico. When Villa expelled the Spaniards from Chihuahua, he is said to have announced that Germans would be the next to go. But the killing of Benton, which followed soon after, caused him to change his mind. The landing of ammunition for the federal government by the German vessels may result in the Germans in rebel territory being driven out and their property confiscated, the revolutionists declare.

TEMPLE DEGREE CONFERRED MANY KNIGHTS WITNESS WORK

Important Session and Enjoyable Banquet Held by Garfield Commandry Last Night—Templar Year
Closes June 1—Annual Election of Officers June 17—A Successful
Year.

Three candidates, Ed L. Bush, of this city, William Styerwalt and William Porter, of Greenfield, were Thursday night initiated into the mysteries of Knights Templarism when Garfield Commandery put on the closing work of the temple year ending June first.

Besides the temple degree, the three candidates, together with Dr.
T. W. McFadden and John McFadden of this city, and Ray Styerwalt, of Greenfield, received the Malta degree.

At the sumptuous banquet which accompanied the festivities, sixty or more guests were served by the women of the Eastern Star who had the “feed” in charge. Of these were representations from Greenfield, Hillsboro, Jeffersonville and other neighboring cities.

In many respects last night's affair was one of the most interesting
year.

events in Masonic circles that has occurred during the year and was in progress from 4 o'clock in the afternoon until 11 o'clock in the evening.

The degree work was wonderful and was in charge of a team composed of Eminent Commander Elmer A.
Klever, Dr. J. M. Boyd, generalis-simmo; Dr. A. M. Bush, Captain general; Werten Mallow, senior warden;
Lee Des Martin, junior warden; J. W.
Tway, warden; A. T. Baldwin, excellent prelate. These were assisted by other Sir Knights.

“This has been a most successful year,” said Eminent Commander Elmer A. Clever in discussing the work and plans of the Commandery Friday morning. “The work has been retarded just a little owing to the fact that we were unable to get into our new building until February 1 and the work itself was delayed until March. The prospects are bright that the coming year will be a banner
one in Washington Templarism.”

June 17 is the date set for the annual election of officers when a new official staff will be chosen to carry on the work during the succeeding
year.

“Dear Madam: I have been shown in the files of the war department a statement of the Adjutant General of Massachusetts that you are the mother of five sons, who died gloriously on the field of battle. I feel how weak and fruitless must be any words of mine which should attempt to beguile you from the grief of a loss so overwhelming.
But I cannot refrain from tendering to you the consolation that may be found in the thoughts of the republic they died to save. I pray our Heavenly Father may assuage the anguish of your bereavement, and leave you only the cherished memory of the loved and lost, and the solemn pride that must be yours to have laid so costly a sacrifice upon the altar of freedom.

Yours very sincerely and respectfully,
ABRAHAM LINCOLN.”

Those things you assume to be in your

You are safe in dealing with a firm that has such a reputation takes a long time to build precious things, is easily destroyed.

We have spent years of time and thousands

Commander of Militia in Colorado Strike Zone Testifies.

DENIES CHARGES OF CRUELTY

Judge Ben Lindsey Also Appears Before the United States Commission on Industrial Relations and Attacks the Officer's Testimony and Bitterly Assails the Mine Owners—Review of the Testimony.

New York, May 29.—The side of the militiamen in the Colorado strike war was given before the United States commission on industrial relations by Major Edward J. Boughton, who commanded the militia during the strike troubles. He was a member of the commission appointed by Brigadier General John Chase to find out who was responsible for the burning of the tent colony at Ludlow and the killing of the wives and children of the strikers, and his evidence was largely a defense of the militiamen when they were in the strike zone.

Judge Ben D. Lindsey of Denver, who came here to plead the cause of the strikers and who has been trying to see John D. Rockefeller, Jr., appeared after the testimony of Major Boughton was finished and asked to be put on the stand to reply to some of the statements of the latter. The request was granted and he attacked the testimony of Major Boughton and bitterly assailed the mine owners.

Major Boughton said that the immediate cause of the strike battle at

LOBBY OF LOCAL Y. M. C. A.

Ludlow and the burning of the tent colony was an attack on the soldiers by the Greeks in the colony, who mistook a movement of the troops on a nearby hill as a hostile demonstration. "The machine guns were not used against the tent colony," he said. "They were used merely to cover the movement of the troops. The tents were set on fire by combustion caused by a bullet. The fire was at first accidental, but it was afterward spread by the national guardsmen."

Lindsey a Witness.

The presence of the women and children in the pits where they sought refuge under the tents, was unknown to the soldiers, he said. When the fire started the soldiers rescued 20 or 25 women. He admitted there was a common belief in Colorado that militia officers were controlled by the mine owners.

Replying to a question by Commissioner Garrison, he said that he had been to the Rockefeller offices and saw Mr. Green, but did not see Mr. Rockefeller.

Judge Lindsey testified that the president of the mine owners' association was head of a society for the prevention of cruelty to children, but did not live up to his precepts. Many were killed in the mills, he declared, and the corporation controlled district attorneys, judges of the supreme court and other officers of the law as they would office boys.

Judge Lindsey declared that he had affidavits of people who swore they heard the order to the soldiers to burn the tents; also that he could produce evidence showing that mine guards were turned on the tents under which there were innocent women and children.

"If the trouble is settled," Judge Lindsey continued, "the lull will only be temporary. A far bigger storm is coming unless the employers, who are the beneficiaries of unfair laws, are fair to their employees." He said that there would be a repetition of the Ludlow horrors unless the president kept the federal troops there. He charged the mine owners with deliberate unfairness to the employees.

EQUAL TRADE IS ADVOCATED

By Associated Press.

Mohonk Lake, N. Y., May 29.—Rear Admiral French E. Chadwick, U. S. N., retired, speaking before the Lake Mohonk Conference on International Arbitration here today, said that the United States should set an example to the world in demonstrating its behalf in the open door, by opening to international equal trade the Philippines, Porto Rico, and the Canal Zone.

His subject was "Equal Trade Opportunities A Preventive of War." Such countries as Morocco and the Congo States, if not left to the inhabitants themselves, should be regarded, he said, as world commons, no part of which should be fenced off by a particular nation as a special trade reserve, but should be open to all. The principle of equal trade and exploitation had already been established there, and he believed that the United States should take a still further step as regards the Philippines, Porto Rico and the Canal Zone.

"Particularly advisable," he said, "is a free canal zone and thus the establishment there of a new Hong Kong, the immense growth and prosperity of the eastern city being due to its status as a free port."

PROPOSE A STANDING COMMITTEE OF POWERS

By Associated Press.

Mohonk, Lake, N. Y., May 29.—A joint address, by Dr. John Bates Clark, professor of Political Economy at Columbia University, and Sir George Paish, editor of the London Statist, was read by Dr. Clark at the Lake Mohonk Conference on International Arbitration here today. They had been asked to "present a plan for taking one practical step in the direction of universal peace."

They proposed a Standing Committee of the Powers.

They raised the question whether conferences of foreign ministers or their representatives could be made a part of the regular procedure of governments.

"The need for this," they said, "exists independently of warfare. The nations have become interdependent where formerly they sought to be self-contained, both politically and economically. They live by serving each other."

The interdependence was most noticeable in the exchange of clothing and food and capital. "The failure of the monsoon in India raises the price of bread in England," they cited as example. "And an earthquake or war always causes losses in very remote regions."

"It should be possible for a Standing Committee to agree upon policies that, in time of peace, will promote the common welfare and create a strong bond of mutual friendliness."

There might be no guarantee against war, but the step now called for was the creation of a mechanism by which the general interest of the whole of mankind shall be protected.

"The chief question which we need to bring before the next Hague Conference," they said, "is how the general interest can best be preserved. A standing committee of the powers would be a potent instrumentality for conserving it. It should call its meetings from time to time, whenever the general interest is affected by a conference between the powers."

The function of such a committee would not be confined to averting war. The elaborate network of business relations that tie the countries together will afford the interest to be immediately and constantly guarded through periods of peace, as well as the supreme reason for averting war."

DEBATE STILL RULES SENATE

Washington, May 29.—The outlook for an early vote on the tolls repeal bill is far from satisfactory. Speeches are still being made from day to day and notices given of more speaking to come. One prominent western Republican senator, who contemplates a long deliverance on the subject of free tolls, said that he had not yet begun the preparation of his speech. The latest speakers were Senators Oliver of Pennsylvania, West of Georgia and Dupont of Delaware. Senators Oliver and Dupont are opposed to repeal while Mr. West was favorable to repeal.

IS VINDICATED

Elmira, N. Y., May 29.—The theory of Dr. Samuel Langley, who proclaimed to the world that he had solved the problem of the air several years before the upper elements had been successfully navigated by a heavier-than-air machine, was vindicated at Hammondsport when Glenn Curtiss, the aviator, went aloft in "Langley's Folly." The crude flying machine, which fell into the Potomac river when Dr. Langley, its inventor, attempted to fly in it, and which later was consigned to the Smithsonian Institute at Washington, had every requisite for flight and remained in the air long enough to demonstrate the practical mind of its maker.

Langley made the one fatal error of trying to catapult the flyer into the air with the aid of ponderous springs, but he succeeded only in wrecking the machine. Had he tried the method pursued today, of running the machine along the ground and allowing it to rise gradually in the air, there is little doubt he would have made the first flight in a heavier-than-air machine.

AFTER GRIPPE.

Made Strong by Vinol.

John C. Furman, of Clarion, Pa., says: "After a very severe attack of the grippe my system was in a weakened, nervous and run-down condition. I had no appetite at all. I was obliged to continue with my work, and nothing seemed to help me until a friend induced me to take Vinol. I began to note good results from the first bottle. I continued its use and am now sound and well as ever."

In health one cannot realize how depressed a person may become after trying one remedy after another without benefit for such a condition as Mr. Furman was in, or what a relief it is to find help and be restored to health and strength.

It is the combined action of the medicinal curative element of cod's liver without the greasy oil, aided by the blood-making and strength-creating properties of tonic iron, that makes Vinol so efficient in building up the weakened run-down system.

We guarantee Vinol to give you perfect satisfaction. Blackmer & Taunay, Druggists, Washington C. H., Ohio.

P. S.—For rough, scaly skin, try our Saxo Salve. We guarantee it.
